

D'ARCY RANCH GOLF CLUB

SINCE 1991

D'Arcy Ranch Golf Club (pronounced D-R-C) is a public facility owned by the D'Arcy family.

Ken Dye designed the course, under the guidance of the late Jerry D'Arcy.

The land that the course is built on was originally a Quarter Horse Ranch, where Mr. D'Arcy raised horses for almost 15 years.

The 16,000 square foot arena, once used for horse shows, is now the maintenance building for the golf course.

The quarter mile racetrack, which was used for training, is now the 2nd hole of the championship course.
